Message from the President

Mr. Paolo Barilari

FELCA represents the most qualified study travel agencies from three continents. The study travel agencies that are affiliated to FELCA via their national associations are amongst the best in the international education market. There are 600 agencies affiliated with FELCA, from 15 national associations. These agencies adhere to the Felca Accreditation Code. From the FELCA members the students receive top service and advice from professional study travel agencies. If your school is interested in recruiting international students, or if you are an international student, a FELCA agency will ensure that your study travel will be everything it should be. Feel free to contact any of the FELCA board members if you would like to know more about us. We would be pleased to share our experience and the advantage of being a part of FELCA.

History of Felca

FELCA, a worldwide association of national associations of language and education consultant providers, was established in 2000. Its founding concept was that agents and industry leaders from all countries should meet to discuss their businesses, agent to agent - an idea first conceived by several representatives of national associations of study abroad organizations from Brazil, France, Germany, Spain, and Japan in the mid 1990's. By the late 1990's, FELCA's member associations comprised the education and language travel agents that spanned the regions of Asia Pacific, Europe, and Pan America, with founding members in the countries of Brazil, France, Italy, Spain, Japan, Thailand, Taiwan, and Korea. Vietnam and Turkey joined later. (Masaru Yamada, Chairman, FELCA)

Hong Kong: HKIECA

Hong Kong International Education Consultants' Association

香港國際教育顧問協會
HONG KONG INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION
CONSULTANTS' ASSOCIATION

As international education has continued to grow and become a major industry for many countries, the need for quality control has also become an increasingly obvious issue. The establishment of the Hong Kong International Education Consultants' Association (HKIECA) as a self-regulating body is most important to education providers, parents, and students. Education plays an important part in the development of our future generations, and all players in the field have a moral responsibility to maintain quality and integrity.

Meanwhile overseas governments and institutions have introduced increasingly complex procedures to ensure the welfare, safety and success of overseas students in their countries. Governments and institutions now take more security-conscious and outcome-focused approaches to accepting international students and education consultants and education counselors need specialist knowledge and skills, and on-going training.

Our vision is to create an association of self-disciplined education counsellors and consulting professionals whose members adhere to the highest ethical and business standards. As with many professional bodies, HKIECA now require its members to take the training and tests for each the countries of their overseas education providers, Australia, UK, USA, Canada, and New Zealand.

Korea: KOSA

Korea Overseas Study Association

Founded in 1981, the KOSA, the Korea Overseas Study Association, is serving the international education community as the most representative association for education agencies in Korea, which is consisted of about 130 member agencies.

The KOSA has been taking an active role in upholding the highest quality standards for the industry in Korea. Its member agencies are required to abide by its own industry standards though training and education.

In order to further the depth of self-quality control, the KOSA and the Korean National Assembly together is about to introduce a new bill that requires even a higher level of quality checks, transparency, work ethics and professionalism for education agencies in Korea.

The new bill would require all education agencies in Korea to be evaluated and approved by government. To help agencies comply with such legal measures, the KOSA is implementing a training and certification process to produce professional international education counselors.

With such painstaking measures, the KOSA strives to better serve our student clients and educational institute partners abroad; therefore, the KOSA is further gaining public trust and support.

Taiwan: IECA

International Education Consultants Association

IECA was officially established in 2005. It built on, and took over, all of the previous work done by TOSA, and today IECA is the sole, government-recognized voice for agents in Taiwan.

IECA has been working with the Taiwan education authorities to better structure and regulate the study abroad consulting industry. Major accomplishments include the introduction of a standard contract that agents must use when contracting with students, and the establishment of professional liability insurance for agencies wanting to conduct study tour groups.

In addition, IECA assists consumers with dispute resolution with overseas schools or IECA members. IECA has also successfully hosted multi-national and agent education fairs since 1994, making its events one of the longest-running and most effective promotional events in Taiwan.
